Editorial Team

[1] [2] IC Journal Master List - a database of scientific journals - currently includes over 22,000 journals from around the world. The database registers scientific journals that have successfully passed the evaluation process involving a multidimensional parametric assessment, which reflects their high quality. The IC Journal Master List was given recognition of the Ministry of Science and Higher Education by placing the IC JML database of scientific journals on the list of databases, in which being indexed entails additional points to periodicals in the evaluation made by the Ministry. A successful evaluation is also associated with international promotion and prestige.
